Doris Keith-Clark

Founder & CEO, Doris Keith-Clark Early Education Center
Founding Member, Homewood Child Care Alliance (HCCA)
Former Vice President, Homewood Concerned Citizen Council

Doris has devoted over 40 years in providing voluntary community services, caregiving and educating children. Doris has earned dual Associate Degrees in Medical Assisting and Applied Science General Studies, from the Community College of Allegheny County Allegheny Campus, in addition to a Medical Insurance Specialist, Certificate. She also studied Customer Service through Goodwill Industries, Information Sciences through Bidwell Training Center, and Communications through Columbia School Broadcasting. Doris earned her Bachelor of Science Human Resources Management from Geneva College, Beaver Falls, Pennsylvania.

People that know Doris refer to her as a busy person. She's constantly blending relationships between children, families, staff and community partners. Doris has been a child care advocate for many years and has often traveled to the Capitol with the former Pittsburgh Association for Education of Young Children, now Trying Together, to advocate for funding to support early childhood care and education, Doris enjoys partnering with others and introducing community partners to one another to extend the village of communities that we need to lead and guide our children.
